Magazine of the
Marist Brothers' High School
Darlinghurst

DECEMBER, 1959

His Eminence Cardinal Gilroy meets the newly elected Holy Father,
Pope John XXIII.

The Marist Brothers of the High School, Darlinghurst, and their pupils offer to His Eminence N. T. Cardinal Gilroy, Archbishop of Sydney, sentiments of sincere filial respect and loyalty together with Christmas and New Year Greetings.

In like manner, we extend good wishes to His Lordship Bishop Carroll and His Lordship Bishop Freeman, Auxiliaries to His Eminence.

The School Shield and Motto

ON THE cover of the Magazine will be found a facsimile of the High School Arms, as portrayed on the main window, situated over the old entrance to the School. The shield is divided into four quadrants, two of which are deep blue, and the other two, together with the light portion of the surrounding ornament, are in gold. The school colours are not in any way connected with the colours of the shield, for the latter must be in accordance with the rules of heraldry.

The following is the heraldic description of the shield:—

The Blazon of these Arms is quarterly or (gold) and azure, charged as follows:—

1° (primo): A Blazing Torch to the Dexter over a Latin Cross saltirewise, both of the second.

2° (secundo): An Open Book ppr (proper).

3°: A Six Pointed Star of the first, and in the fourth the monogram "A.M." surrounded by twelve stars in oval order, all of the second.

CREST: A Cross or, voided Azure.

MOTTO: Servo fidem.

The Book and the Torch both signify learning, but the latter being connected with the Cross typifies religious knowledge.

The Six-Pointed Star, known as the "Commonwealth Star," is an Australian emblem, and the "A.M." (Ave Maria) is the Marist Monogram. The Crest is a Latin Cross, the emblem of our Faith. On the Scroll is the school motto, "Servo fidem" (I Keep the Faith), a motto full of thought and feeling for every Catholic, and most suitable for a Catholic high school.

St. Vincent de Paul Society

STANDING: W. Gummer, J. Thompson, M. Lynch, M. Grainger, R. Dick, D. Maguire.
SITTING: G. Allen, P. Gibson, Rev. C. Grew (School Chaplain), J. Piggott, N. Fahy.

In mid year a branch of the St. Vincent de Paul Society was inaugurated at the School under the chaplaincy of Rev. Father C. Grew of the Sacred Heart Parish, Darlinghurst. Eleven boys formed the nucleus of the new conference.

At their first meeting the following executive was elected:

President: Peter Gibson.
Vice-Presidents: Robert Dick and Michael Grainger.
Secretary: John Piggott.

Treasurer: Noel Fahy.
Librarian: John Thompson.

The Society provides many suitable works of charity for boys; for example, visiting boys sick in hospital or at home and finding school requisites for needy boys whether at their own school or elsewhere.

Next year the society hopes to enrol more volunteers and to extend their work and influence.

BROTHER CLOMAN

It was hardly the same place when the first School assembly for 1959 took place with Brother Cloman not close at hand. He had been transferred to Brisbane as Principal of our College at Rosalie.

He had come here from Bondi Beach in 1950 and had taught History and Chemistry with outstanding success, the reward of his characteristic thoroughness. Brother Cloman was equally active outside the classroom; a keen coach of his football and cricket teams.

In spite of this he still found time to organise social functions for the senior boys.

During these years Brother Cloman studied at Sydney University and graduated B.A. in 1955. As a post-graduate course he had studied with the University of New England for his Diploma of Education.

Throughout the last five years Brother Cloman, as Vice Principal, did much to lighten the burden of the Principal which grew heavier as the number of students approached record proportions.

When we saw Brother Cloman in July we had good reason to think that our best wishes that had gone to Brisbane with him had borne fruit and that he was flourishing in the 'Sunshine State'.

We can assure him that his labours here still continue to bear a rich harvest.

Brother Dunstan did not forget to call at the School on his return from overseas during the year.

Brother Fergus is back in Sydney again at our High School at Kogarah.

Brother Wilbred has ventured in to the far north of Queensland and is Vice Principal of our College at Innisfail.

Brother Salvius has been promoted to the important position of recruiter of boys for our Juniorate and Training College.

Brother Gerard was in during the year with some helpful guidance for the article in this issue of "Blue and Blue" dealing with the early history of the High School.

We were pleased to see Brother Gerald at various times during the year when he obliged us with sporting fixtures against our school at Hamilton.

Rev. Brother Cloman, B.A.

Brother Carl (Peebles) was Professed in July and has paid us a few visits since his appointment to Penshurst.

Brother Donald (Mahon) can be found at the Aquinas Academy a few nights in the week.

Brother Stanislaus was still showing a keen interest in football when we saw him at the State Knockout Competition at the Sydney Cricket Ground at the end of the Second Term.

Brother Michael has now transferred to Cambridge University to do further research work, but we are expecting him back soon.

Brother Maurus has now recovered from a serious illness that laid him low for many weeks early in the year; and he has returned to St. Joseph's College.

Brother Bernard up from the Southern Province during the year did not forget us even after an absence of nearly thirty years.

Brother Edmundus breezed in a couple of times during the year. Among his many duties is that of organising the Religious Study of the Young Brothers.

At the beginning of the year Brother Vianney was placed in charge of our school at Casino while Brother Dunstan was away.

It is not often we see Queenslanders, Brother Peter and Brother Alban in Sydney these days but they both called during the year to bid us at their Alma Mater the time of day.

Brother Cloman came back to renew acquaintances at the beginning of July when he visited Sydney for the Profession of his brother in the Marist Brothers.

Brother Jude continues his labours in the Solomons. He seems to have fully recovered his health.

Brother Fabian is not keeping very well these days but has recently resumed teaching at St. Gregory's College, Cambelltown.

Brother Gregory and Brother Cassian, although snowed under with their secretarial duties at the Provincial House in Sydney, manage to pay us a visit from time to time.

Brother Aquinas, although in St. Vincent's Hospital during the year, is back at Randwick and, we hope, enjoying good health again.

Brother Remigius (Muller) is still at Ashgrove, Brisbane and handy to Brother Cloman.

Senior Boys' Retreats

Early in March this year, Fifth Year had the privilege of a Retreat at the Sacred Heart Monastery, Kensington.

We viewed this as an important event during our last year at school. On previous Retreats, we had only spent school hours at the Monastery, but owing to the generosity of the Parents' and Friends' Association, our last school Retreat was to be an enclosed one.

We observed silence from Monday night until Thursday morning, with the exception of a recreational break each afternoon. The day commenced with Mass in the Chapel and many boys received Holy Communion. After breakfast, which was prepared for us by the Lay-Brothers living there, we spent our time in prayer and meditation either in the quiet Chapel or in the peaceful grounds surrounding the Monastery.

Spiritual books were provided and lectures were given in the Chapel at various times during the day by Father Dignam, who conducted the Retreat and proved an amiable guide in helping us to achieve its purpose.

Later in the year, 3rd and 4th year spent two days on Retreat, while first and second years had a Day of Recollection at Kensington.

On reflection, I consider that the greater benefit was obtained from the enclosed Retreat, since, being so closely united with the monastic life, we were able to carry out the Retreat to its fullest capacity.

We extend our gratitude to Fr. Dignam, Fr. Kelly Superior of the Monastery, and to the other Priests and Brothers for their help and guidance during our Retreat.

Behold the Fields White for the Harvest

Written for the "Blue and Blue" by Father K. McGovern

ONE hundred years ago, an English boy had a strange presentiment. He saw himself, as he used to describe it, grown up, sent to Australia to do a great work and then disappear into a blue mist. This feeling was so strong, that he secured a map of Australia to examine it. When he saw the Blue Mountains marked on it, he presumed that it was here that he was to disappear. He bore the honoured name of Vaughan.

We know him best as Archbishop Roger Bede Vaughan, the man who gave us the great Catholic Education System in Australia. Roger was the second son of thirteen children. His five sisters became nuns. Six of the eight sons were ordained priests. Three of the six priests were consecrated Bishops; one of these was the famous English Cardinal and Roger Bede became the second Archbishop of Sydney.

Mrs. Vaughan was a convert to the Catholic Faith. In thanksgiving for her conversion, she offered her entire family for the service of God. For twenty years she spent an hour each day before the Blessed Sacrament, praying for vocations for her children. She spent all those hours in prayer for this purpose! The result was dramatic.

We can all learn a solid lesson from the example of this saintly woman. God has promised that the supply of vocations will never fail. But He has made it quite clear that we must "pray the Lord of the harvest to send labourers into His vineyard." He does not need to be asked. He knows however, that it is good for us to have to ask for vocations.

Each Catholic must face his responsibility and undertake to pray frequently, even daily, for this end. God has given His Divine Guarantee that our prayers will be heard. As we sow, so shall we reap. Looking into the future, we can be assured of a sufficiency of churches and schools if now we invest our time in prayer. Parents who pray for vocations, can expect them to arise within their own families. Young people who act in a similar way, can expect to be blessed with vocations, or at the very least, to be provided with sufficient priests and teachers to provide for their future needs and the needs of their children.

Unfortunately, the opposite is equally true. No prayers—no Priests, no Nuns, no Brothers; consequently, no churches and schools. But more than this is demanded of young people.

It is certain that God calls many to His service. So, each individual must ascertain whether God is calling him. Our Lord said to the Apostles, "You have not chosen Me, but I have chosen you." God still does the choosing. To find out exactly which individuals are called, each must look into the matter personally, without attempting to sidestep the issue.

No time limit can be placed on the formation of a vocation. Some carry the idea through from tender years; some develop the idea in the early stages of their secondary training; whilst others come to realise their vocation in the final year at school. Even if a vocation has not made its appearance then, there is no guarantee that it will not appear some years later. In some instances the idea comes much later in life.

There is no mechanical means of detecting the presence of a vocation. X-ray can detect hidden mysteries in the body, but there is no form of X-ray suitable for locating a vocation. We are forced to fall back on four principal signs, presupposing a Right Intention. We cannot count on a feeling, because to feel that one should give oneself to God, is a rarity. The main signs are simply, average health and intelligence, coupled with the necessary moral character and willingness to give one's life to God's service.

The path to the priesthood is rather long and not without its difficulties. Anything worth having is always difficult to obtain. The Seminary is meant to be, and is, a testing ground. Sometimes parents recommend their children to spend a year or two in the world to gain some "experience," before entering the Seminary. Some parents hope secretly that the idea may vanish. They are delighted at the prospect of someone having a vocation as long as it is not their own child. No number of years spent in the world can test a vocation as surely and effectively as the years of Seminary training. The whole purpose of a Seminary may be summed-up in a short phrase—a Seminary is a house of formation and proving.

Some individuals point to instances of fine priests who entered the Seminary some years after leaving school. But in almost every case, the priest concerned, had not developed a vocation before he left school. It appeared later.

The life of a priest carries with it many consolations. A priest can say in all truth—everybody calls me Father. It is in ministering to his spiritual children that a priest derives consolation. He belongs to every single family in his parish and really feels that he belongs. Young and old approach him with equal confidence.

Long hours spent in the Confessional give the priest an opportunity to prove himself a true father. Here above all places, he must be patient, kind, sympathetic and understanding. This is a place of refuge for sinners. It is his privilege to console the sinner in the words of the Book of Isaias, "If your sins be as scarlet, they will be made as white as snow—If they be as crimson, they will be made as white as wool."

Here he represents Our Lord, Who was branded as the friend of sinners; Who pardoned the adulteress; Who showed mercy to the penitent thief and Who said, "There will be more joy in Heaven over one sinner who repents, than over ninety-nine just who need not penance."

A priest enjoys the great privilege of bringing Christ down from Heaven to the altar, every day. Thereby, Christ lives amongst us, to enable us to contend with success and adversity. The priest is Our Lord's earthly guardian and intimate friend. On visits to the sick, it is thrilling to have Christ as a travelling companion. In time of sorrow and trouble, it is comforting to have Him as our unfailing support and refuge.

The life of a priest is full of interest. His activities are varied. He comes into close contact with the people. To be a good shepherd, he has to. He is a father to the poor, a friend to the aged and lonely, a consolation to the sick, to the afflicted and the dying.

His greatest satisfaction, however, comes from the realisation that he is devoting all his time, his talents and his energy to the one thing necessary—the salvation of his own soul and the souls of others. For, "What does it profit a man, if he gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his soul."

Our Seminarians

Rev. Father Denis M. Hallinan, O.P., is the younger son (John) of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hallinan, of 65 Dunmore St., Bexley (N.S.W.). Born on March 31, 1931, he was educated at St. Joseph's Convent School, Rockdale, the Marist Brothers' High School, Darlinghurst, and the University of Sydney. After graduating in Science with First Class Honours in Geology and the University Medal, he was Teaching Fellow in Geology for two years at the University of Sydney and holder of the Deas-Thomson Scholarship. In February, 1953, he entered the Dominican Novitiate. He was ordained priest on Wednesday, November 26, 1958, at St. Patrick's College, Manly, by His Eminence Cardinal Gilroy.

Father Hallinan visited the School and said Mass for the students at Sacred Heart Church. Afterwards a presentation was made at the School to Father Hallinan and his mother.

REV D. M. HALLINAN, O.P.

Last year's Leaving Certificate class furnished a phenomenal number of religious vocations.

Early in the first term the Brothers and boys farewelled Jim Grainger, Kevin Fitzpatrick, John Murray and Terry Quinn, who entered St. Columba's Diocesan Seminary at Springwood. Earlier in the year Peter McMahon had left for the Marist Brothers' Juniorate, Mittagong.

In his final year at Darlinghurst Jim Grainger had been Captain of the School, Dux for 1958, and won the Conduct, Study and Sport Award. The other Seminarians had also taken an active part in every side of school life.

Brother Demetrius congratulated the boys on the important step they had taken, asking God's blessing on them and their parents. After suitable presentations had been made Jim Grainger replied on behalf of the recipients, thanking Brother Demetrius and the Brothers for the training that had been given them down the years.

Darlinghurst Hill

“THE old concentration camp stands on a high hill.” Such is the opening of the colourful and popular story of the School and the stately home beside it.

We unearthed at the Mitchell Library an interesting account of this “stately home,” “Stoneleigh” at 278 Upper Dowling Street, now No. 1 Darley Street.

Perhaps when Mr. William Northwood built his home in 1861 he did not realise that it would later serve as a tuck shop, band room, sports room and a private section for the Brothers, and now another classroom is being arranged on the ground floor.

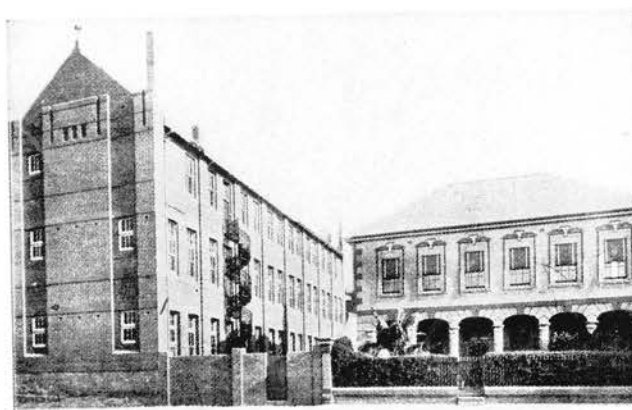

Perhaps Mr. Northwood could have given some much needed directions for the excavations carried out by us future members of the Royal Historical Society, searching for a cellar mentioned in the history of Darlinghurst. However, probably Mr. Northwood did not see much further than his first tenant, Mr. E. B. Cornish, a wealthy squatter, the owner of fifteen sheep and cattle stations in Western New South Wales.

When Mr. Cornish died in 1871, Sir John Russell French, an Indian born inspector of the Bank of New South Wales, occupied “Stoneleigh,” and from then on it was occupied by many illustrious people.

Meanwhile in 1878, the Marist Brothers founded a school at Harrington Street, Church Hill, nowadays not far from the Harbour Bridge. Later a school was opened at St. Mary’s Cathedral. In 1909 the Brothers purchased “Stoneleigh” and a small property surrounding it. The new school building was erected and opened in 1911. This new school has now reverted to “the old concentration camp” and the old stone building is the scene of the many renovations mentioned above.

At the front, set in a neat square of lawn, there is being erected a life size statue of Blessed Marcellin Champagnat, the founder of the Marist Brothers. And there we must leave the popular story of one of Sydney’s oldest relics that will collapse one of these days if we archaeologists make any more excavations looking for that cellar.

A Parent's Impression

Written by the mother of one of our trainees at the Marist Brothers' Juniorate, Mittagong.

I HAD never prayed for a vocation to the religious life for any of my children. It never occurred to me to do so. I had always prayed that they would have happy lives—that they would find contentment and satisfaction in whatever they chose to do—and I had always believed that any worthy ambition should be encouraged and fostered by parents.

An ambition is a wonderful thing. A goal to reach is the most necessary thing in our lives. In the enthusiasm of youth we feel that nothing is impossible for us—the heights of fame—the glory of the world beckon us and we see no reason why we cannot achieve those heights—enjoy that glory—nothing is impossible to us.

I prayed that my children would know this desire for achievement and have the courage and energy to follow their desires—not because of the glory they would attain from their fulfilment but because of the satisfaction that comes from efforts made towards a worthwhile end. I had no thoughts of definite direction of their ambitions—that I believe is a purely individual affair—as long as they had a worthy aim and worked honestly towards it I could not see their lives being unsatisfactory for them or for others.

We watch our children—their inclinations—their particular talents—their failings—their dispositions, and wonder what place they will find in the world. We listen to the variety of occupations they decide to follow: a signalman—a pilot—a tramguard—a doctor—a milkman—a bishop—a juggler—a fireman—perhaps a new idea each week proposed with great determination and solemnly accepted as the final decision.

When at the age of 12 my son mentioned his determination to join the Marist Brothers, this notion was accepted as calmly as all his previous ideas had been, discussed a little as the others had been, and half forgotten.

When a year later he said he wished to go to the Juniorate to begin training for the Order, this would be his 2nd Year in High School, we began to take a more serious view of the idea, but said that definitely 3rd Year would be quite soon enough to go if his ideas were the same then. He made no arguments against this decision but it was apparent that this could be more than another passing attraction.

Another difference about this ambition was the lack of the usual volume of conversation on the subject—no “Gee, Mum, it would be terrific”—no great tales of what he would do when . . . Altogether a somewhat disconcerting and adult patience—as if to wait another year would be a small difficulty which must be endured. It is not common for a child of 12 to have a stable and well-founded ambition. This calm indication that such might be the case was provoking. One day I asked him directly, “Just why do you think you would like to be a Brother?”

“Because I want to get to Heaven and to help others to get there.”

I had prayed that my children would have worthy ambitions and the courage and energy to follow those ambitions—my prayer was being answered with infinite generosity, and yet I was hesitant to co-operate.

Not every child would express his motives as lucidly as he did—indeed this remark was one of rare directness for him, but perhaps the surety of the motive inspired the simplicity of the answer.

The next step was an interview with the Brother in charge of possible vocations. From his previous interviews with the boy, Brother was able to say that a true vocation was indicated. This could be fostered by his attending the Juniorate now and might or might not endure if he did not pursue it until later.

It is a greater responsibility to refuse an opportunity offered than to neglect to seek opportunities for the good of our children.

I spoke of ambition—we all have the ambition for happiness—eternal happiness. We strive for passing satisfactions—achieve them and realise the lack of satisfaction in them—we are restless just as St. Augustine: "Our hearts were made for Thee, O Lord and they cannot rest until they rest in Thee." The reality of life is in faith, hope and charity, and when our children are inspired by the desire to teach these Divine gifts of life to others, our hearts, blind with the wisdom of the world, would try to teach them the same barren wisdom.

Why is it harder to associate spiritual appreciation with young boys than to expect in them an appreciation of honesty, courage and all manly virtues? We encourage them to admire and imitate the qualities of heroes, but when they seek to imitate and follow Christ, who was all Truth and Life—Wisdom—Manliness and Godliness, it is "too much for our poor hearts."

My son went to the Juniorate in 2nd Year as he wished. The night the decision was made that he would go, my husband, the boy and I were walking through the city. They discussed happily model aeroplanes, cameras, television sets, anything that took their fancy. I stared with stupid eyes at everything—the world had come to an end. In three weeks my only son would leave home—he would be away for a year—home for a few weeks' holiday—away for the next year—so it would go on until even those few weeks at Christmas would be stopped. I did not feel at all generous, only a dull, dead ache and a silent, miserable wonder at the peculiar ways of men who walked and talked as casually as though unaware of the enormity of what was happening.

During the days that followed I alternated almost hourly between happy acceptance of the great grace which was offered my son and a quiet cry now and then as I went about my housework.

Advice and opinions were freely offered by relatives and friends—understanding came from the most unexpected quarters, many non-Catholics showing a far greater appreciation of the value of the religious life than some Catholics.

Young men taking part at the ceremony of the Reception of the Habit in the Marist Brothers' Chapel.

All this conflict took place eighteen months ago now. It is difficult to explain the atmosphere at the Juniorate—quite inadequate to say the boys are different. They are ordinary boys who do all the things that boys at school do, but who do everything perhaps a little better than other boys because of the spirit behind their efforts. Their manners are different, marked by a courtesy and poise which stems from true charity. These are boys from all types of homes, whose common aims unite them in a life of prayer, study, work, and recreation. They realise that the extent to which they apply themselves to this time of training affects the measure of the training they will give to the children who will come under their care. The outdoor activities offered appeal to the adventurous natures of boys—all sports, country life, garden work—visits to places of interest around the district. It is a full and happy life.

The visiting days every six weeks reassure parents of the contentment of the boys in their life and the realisation that even if the will of God later directs them elsewhere, He has shown them a great favour in selecting them to spend any time in this company—that they will be better men for the lessons and spirit they have acquired here.

If our sons have the generosity which Our Lord loves, should we not be humbly grateful for the privilege of being their parents, of offering back our children—not with the idea of sacrifice, but happy in the knowledge that they are truly fulfilling the purpose of their being “to know, love and serve God here on earth and to see and enjoy Him in Heaven?”

THE SENIOR CADET UNIT

Cadets

With the enrolment of twenty-five new recruits the cadet unit was again brought up to capacity. It was hoped that the strength of the unit would be raised to over the one hundred mark but this ended in disappointment for the thirty young hopeful recruits who had commenced training with the first year cadets. WOII Ostara, assisted by CUO's Michael Ogg and Anthony Craven and the NCO's showed intense interest in the instruction of the cadets, especially during the camp period.

Annual Camp. The Annual Camp was held at Singleton during the August holidays. The greater part of this time was spent in fieldcraft exercises, which, for city boys, had a strong appeal. The bivouac, which was the first the unit had attempted, proved a wonderful success, if one is capable of learning from one's mistakes.

The band featured prominently in camp and gave a good account of itself in the A grade Band Competition. It was selected with Marcellin College Band to play at the Town Hall during the Education Week march and again at the march past of all units during the annual camp. The high standard of the band is due largely to the three years' hard work put into it by Mr. S. Verey and the senior members of the band.

Passing Out Parade. At the Annual Ceremonial Parade, held at Rushcutters Bay Oval, Lt. Col. Anderson took the salute and inspected the unit. Later he presented the corps with the newly consecrated flags, which were blessed by Father Vaughan.

THE most successful football team this year was the Under 15's who were M.C.C. Premiers. They were victorious after close struggles with Randwick, Kogarah and Lewisham. The A Grade finished in third place, defeating all except the top two teams Kogarah and Randwick, who were too good for us. Our B Grade and Under 14 teams were not so successful but they provided strong opposition for even the best teams.

In the Eastern Suburbs Knockout Competition, our teams won five of the Secondary Division — Open, 10 stone, 9 stone, 8 stone and 7 stone. In the All Schools Carnival, the 10 stone was the most successful team. After a day of hard football, they drew 8-8 with Drummoyne High in the final, only to lose because Drummoyne had scored first.

The Colour Competition games were battled out with their usual vigour on Moore Park, with the Blues registering most success during the season. The Inter-House Knockout Competition was held as usual at the end of the season and provided a feast of football. In one of the best games since this competition commenced in 1955, the Greens defeated the Golds 9-7 in the A Grade final.

The most successful team overall was the Blues.

EASTERN SUBURBS SCHOOLBOY COMPETITION

WE entered two teams in this Competition which is a new venture in the district. Our Under 12's reached the Grand Final where they were defeated by a very strong team from Charing

Cross. The Under 13's were placed third in their competition and were defeated in a semi-final by Clovelly, the eventual winners. Many enjoyable games were played and much valuable experience was gained by the members of these teams.

ONCE again we are able to report success in the M.C.C. Cricket Competition. Our B Grade were undefeated Premiers, winning the competition by 22 points. Our aggregate points score gave us the "Labour Daily" Shield by 33 points from Kogarah. The A Grade finished one point behind the Joint-Premiers, Randwick and Lewisham, losing only one game. The aspect for 1960 is very promising, as most of the A's and B's were in Third and Fourth Years, and so will be available again. The Under 14's were a very young team and they, too, should be well to the fore next year.

The Greens once again asserted their superiority in this sport with a good win in the Annual Carnival. Parents and Friends' Association

THE executive for 1959 was as follows:
 President: Mr. T. Akhurst.
 Vice-President: Mr. D. J. Simpson.
 Secretary: Mrs. F. Reed.
 Assistant Secretary: Mrs. T. Akhurst.
 Treasurer: Mr. J. Langdon.

The Parents and Friends' Committee continued organising functions for raising funds to reduce the debt incurred in remodelling the Brothers' House. The many functions they conducted were again most successful.

The Parents and Friends also did us a great service in catering for many celebrations during the year: Football Knockout Competition, Men's Auxiliary Smoko, Athletics Carnival, Victory Banquet for the winning Colour Competition Team and Fourth Year's Farewell Dinner to the Leaving Certificate Class.

BALANCE SHEET

Ladies' Luncheons	£59
Boys' Nights	£1,048
Mother's Day Fete	£123
Football Carnival	£49
Sports' Day	£48
Annual Fete	£900

Men's Auxiliary

Early in the year the Men's Auxiliary foregathered at the school to reorganise their resources for 1959. Through the generosity of these men many weekends were spent completing the painting of the school, extending the shelter shed, fitting out the new tuck shop and making way for a new classroom in the Darley Street building.

A special thanks is due to the following men who managed various sections of the work:

Mr. E. Goodwin, Mr. G. Fallon, Mr. T. Swanner and Mr. P. Marshall.

The Forbes Trip

One of the highlights of the football season was the A grade's trip to Forbes. The tour was under the auspices of the New South Wales Rugby Football League and included one match and many social engagements.

The trip was made on the Queen's Birthday week-end. Arriving at Forbes on Friday night we were all accommodated at the College where there was plenty of room because the boarders were away for the long weekend.

The game against the Marist Brothers' College, Forbes, was a very even tussle, but our hosts ran out winners, 8-6. However, our visit as a whole was an unqualified success, thanks to the Forbes Brothers and their friends who made us so welcome.

At various times during our stay we saw many aspects of life in the Central West. We were taken on a conducted tour over a model dairy and a stud pig farm. Immediately after these visits we were treated to a magnificent turkey dinner by a Mrs. Mulloy, a benefactor of the Forbes College and ours for the day. Brother Patrick, supported by our captain, Darryl Rees, thanked Mrs. Mulloy for her great generosity, not forgetting the ladies who assisted her. The social whirl continued and on the Sunday evening the girls of the local College entertained us at a supper dance. By the end of the evening even our most husky forwards had learnt to dance and were looking for more.

Before leaving for Sydney on Monday we were given the opportunity of seeing many square miles of the West which opened the eyes of many of us who had very rarely left the metropolis.

Once again, we tourists would like to thank all those who planned our trip and made it so enjoyable.

Besides the footballers' trip to Forbes, teams visited Gosford for fixtures against our school at Hamilton. The athletes joined other Sydney schools in a field day at Mittagong, while the cricket teams had an enjoyable day at St. Gregory's College, Campbelltown, during the first term.

It would have been impossible to arrange these meetings had not the parents of the boys and other friends of the Brothers made themselves and their cars available for travelling to country centres. We are very grateful to these generous people for this service and for the tasty dishes they set before us during our outings.

Social Activities

The main social event of the year was the farewell dinner given to the Leaving Certificate Class by Fourth Year. The function again took place at the Irish National Association Hall, Devonshire Street, on Wednesday, October 28, at 7 p.m. The hall had been tastefully decorated and arranged by the ladies of the Parents' and Friends' Association, the mothers of the Fourth and Fifth Year boys under the supervision of Brother Patrick, assisted by some Fourth Year boys.

Visitors at the official table were:— Mr. Morton Quoye, President of the Old Boys' Union, Mr. T. Akhurst, President of the Parents' and Friends' Association and Mr. O. Howard, Secretary of the Men's Auxiliary. An apology was received from the School Chaplain, Rev. Father C. Grew, whose parish duties kept him away.

The boys again showed confidence and ability in proposing and replying to their various toasts, but a special word of praise is due to Ulf Brandmayer who chaired the gathering with the ease of a veteran.

During the course of the evening we were entertained by Mr. Bob Murphy, an Old Boy of the thirties, and his accompanist Mr. Bill Smith.

The toast list was as follows:—

Chairman: ULF BRANDMAYER.

Toast to the Leaving Certificate

Proposed by: KEVIN PLUMMER.

Seconded by: ANTHONY STABBACK.

Replied to by: ANTHONY CRAVEN.

Seconded by: NEIL McKENNA.

Toast to the Alma Mater

Proposed by: JOHN WOODS.

Seconded by: BRIAN HOGAN.

Replied to by: REV. BROTHER DEMETRIUS.

Seconded by: REV. BROTHER FERRER.

Address by President of O.B.U., MR. MORTON QUOYLE.

Earlier in the month the ladies of the P. and F. Association organised at the I.N.A. hall a house banquet for the victorious Greens.

The captains and vice-captains of the other teams, guests at the dinner, congratulated the Greens on their all round superiority and supported Brother Demetrius and Brother Samuel in thanking the ladies for the tasty repast.

Thanks and Appreciation

In addition to those mentioned elsewhere in these pages the Brothers and boys at the School express their thanks to Rt. Rev. Mgr. T. O. Wallace, P.P., Rev. C. Grew and the other priests of the Darlington Parish for their zeal amongst the boys, Rev. J. Power, Adm., St. Canice's Parish; to Mrs. Newman, to Messrs. G. Boyd, C. Renaud, J. Langdon, S. Ogg, J. Williams, T. Swanner, T. Hannan, B. Hare, J. Winchester, B. McGee, S. Johnson, J. Pye, W. Vrolyks, A. Jones, J. Moses, J. Malouf, G. Fallon, J. Stokes, K. Laffan, S. Nolan, J. Casey, Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. P. Quinn, Mrs. G. Gauci.

In a special way would like to thank Rev. J. King, M.S.C., chaplain to the Community, and the Priests and Brothers of the Sacred Heart Monastery, Kensington, Miss Gaynon, Mrs. Brandmayer and Mrs. Jaconelli.

We thank the committees of the Parents and Friends, the Men's Auxiliary and the Old Boys' Union, the Nuns at St. Vincent's Hospital; Dr. J. O'Neill and his colleagues and all who have helped us during the year.

We also wish to acknowledge further donations to the Appeal by:— Rev. F. J. Hatton, Messrs. F. J. Landers and J. H. Lopez.

Obituary

FUNERAL OF THE LATE PREMIER, MR. J. CAHILL

As we go to print our State is mourning the death of its Premier. The following extract is from the panegyric preached by His Eminence Cardinal Gilroy at the Funeral Mass:—

"People in this State regret and mourn the passing of a great leader of whom they were justifiably proud. They placed him in supreme command of the Government for which he planned, laboured, and prayed. He was determined to do everything in his power to justify the confidence placed in him. He has been held up to the citizens of this State and the Commonwealth as a citizen whom the noblest of men would be proud to imitate. By his death the Church has lost a devoted son."

In conclusion, the Cardinal said: "Mr. Cahill not only never neglected his Parliamentary and social engagements, but never allowed these to impair the harmony of his family life. The family's consolation will be his happy death. To Catholics this is the prayer of a lifetime." Mr. Cahill was privileged to receive the Last Sacraments while in possession of his faculties and just three hours before he left this vale of tears to present himself to his Eternal Judge."

REV. BROTHER HYACINTH

Rev. Brother Hyacinth, who died suddenly at Eagle Heights, Queensland, in July, was well known as a teacher in Marist Brothers schools in Sydney.

He entered the Marist Brothers' Novitiate, Mittagong, as a boy, being received into the Order on the 2nd January, 1917.

Brother Hyacinth taught in Queensland, South Australia, and New South Wales. He is best remembered in Sydney at Mosman, Parramatta, and especially at St. Vincent's Home, Westmead, where he laboured for many years.

Only those who knew him intimately realised that he had, for many years, an illness that caused him serious inconvenience. The brightness of his character and the cheerfulness with which he bore his ailment concealed it from most who knew him.

A keen sportsmaster, he was still at his work when death came to him on the 19th

July. During a boxing tournament at the College at Eagle Heights, Brother Hyacinth suffered a heart attack and died on the way to hospital.

BERNARD McMAUGH

The untimely deaths of Bernard McMaugh and his wife overtook them in a road accident while returning from morning Mass early this year.

Bernard McMaugh attended the High School from 1944-1948. In his final year he was Dux of the Leaving Certificate class and Captain of the School. He graduated B.Sc. at Sydney University and later completed a brilliant course in electronics at the University of New South Wales. At the time of his death he was engaged in research work for A.W.A.

A fine tribute was paid to the late Bernard McMaugh by Brother Michael, a Director of the High School in Bernard's time: "Bernie was an outstanding boy amongst all those I have taught, and I always remember him for his transparent goodness, his splendid character, his enthusiasm in everything as well as for his brilliant intellectual gifts."

In your prayers please remember the following who died during the year.

Over a Century of Progress

A Community Service which Links Six Generations of Sydneysiders

Thomas Dixon founded Sydney's first Catholic "undertaking" in 1836 . . . the year of the opening of old St. Mary's and 6 years before the Municipality of Sydney was formed. The firm of Thomas Dixon Pty. Ltd., faithful to the principles which it has honoured for 120 years, is to-day pledged to the same high standard of service to the Catholic community, under the management of the founder's great-grandsons, Henry Thomas and William John, the present directors.
